

Privacy Policy

Links to Third Parties

This website could contain links to other sites that may interest you. Once you click on those links and leave our website, we will not have control over the site you are redirected to, and hence we are not responsible for the privacy terms or your data protection on those third-party websites. Those websites are subject to their privacy policies, so it is recommended that you look them up to confirm that you agree with them.

Control of your personal information

At any given time, you may restrict the gathering or use of personal information provided on our website. Every time you are asked to fill out a form, such as a user register, you can select or deselect the option to receive information via email. If you have chosen the option to receive our newsletter or advertisement, you can cancel it anytime. This company will not sell, transfer or distribute the personal information gathered without your consent unless a judge requires it with a court order. This Privacy Policy establishes the terms by which the information provided by users when they use this website is used and protected. Simplicity Agency is committed to the safety of our users' data. When we ask you to fill out the personal information fields with which you can be identified, we do it by ensuring that they will only use them under the terms of this document.

Gathered Information

Our website will be able to gather personal information, such as name, contact information like your email address, and demographic information. Likewise, if necessary, specific information will be required to process an order or to make a delivery or invoice.

Use of gathered information

Our website uses the information to provide the best possible service, mainly to keep a registry of user orders in case it applies and improve our products and services. Emails may be regularly sent through our website with new products and other advertising information that we consider relevant for you or that can provide a benefit for you. These emails will be sent to your email address and can be canceled anytime. Simplicity Agency is highly committed to fulfilling the commitment of keeping your information safe. We use the most advanced systems and constantly update them to ensure there is no unauthorized access.

Cookies

A cookie is a file sent to ask permission to store on your computer. Accepting that file is created, the cookie keeps the information about the web traffic and facilitates future visits to a recurring website. Another function of cookies is that websites can individually recognize you and provide you with the best-personalized web service. Our website uses cookies to identify visited pages and their frequency. This information is only used for statistical analysis; afterward, the data is permanently deleted. You can delete cookies at any given time from your computer. However, cookies help to provide a better website service. They do not grant access to your or your computer's information unless you want it that way and directly provide it. You can accept or deny the use of cookies, although most navigators accept cookies automatically because it serves to provide a better web service. You can also change the setting of your computer to deny cookies. If they are denied, it is possible you cannot use some of our services.

Links to Third Parties

This website could contain links to other sites that may interest you. Once you click on those links and leave our website, we will not have control over the site you are redirected to, and hence we are not responsible for the privacy terms or your data protection on those third-party websites. Those websites are subject to their privacy policies, so it is recommended that you look them up to confirm that you agree with them.

Control of your personal information

At any given time, you may restrict the gathering or use of personal information provided on our website. Every time you are asked to fill out a form, such as a user register, you can select or deselect the option to receive information via email. If you have chosen the option to receive our newsletter or advertisement, you can cancel it anytime.

This company will not sell, transfer or distribute the personal information gathered without your consent unless a judge requires it with a court order.